Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over (US 2002/0099640) Lange. Priority date (7/21/99 -provisional application no. 60/144,890) for the reasons set forth in section 4 of the previous office action mailed 7/5/2006 as explained more fully below.

Applicant's arguments filed 10/06/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Lange does indeed disclose applicant's inventive concept. Applicant has merely chosen to call the same things different words. Resort may be had to Paragraphs [0468]-[0470] as evidence in support thereof. These paragraphs set forth what is considered the same method only in different terms. That is, "receiving from an investor data regarding..." in for example, paragraph 0469 is considered the same as receiving "a dollar call/yen put..." from an investor (someone had to order said trade). The limitation, "in response structuring a customized security..." reads on "derivatives traders and risk managers often employ sophisticated analytical tools to trade, hedge and manage risk of exotic derivatives."

It is respectfully requested that Applicant take the full disclosure of Lange into account when formulating a response to the instant Office action as the Examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references as applied to the claims for the convenience of the applicant. Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings in the art and are applied to the specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant, in preparing the responses, to fully consider the references in entirety as potentially teaching all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the examiner.

Applicant did not argue the dependant claims.

Applicant's invention is drawn to a method for providing personalized derivative securities wherein a customer (investor) sends data (to a broker, or some manner of effecting the trade) requesting a customized security with a certain risk-return value (how much the person wants to risk vice how much they can earn) and with whom they would like the security to be based on (i.e. the issuer) This would seem to be the current manner of providing such securities. That is, it is not seen how and in what manner there would be any other way of providing a customized security derivative without performing the instant claimed invention. It is assumed that customized securities have been offered in the past and that customers have had the ability to choose or voice their preferences.

Accordingly, applicant's inventive concept is deemed obvious for at least these reasons alone.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
